Prison Delivery Plot Foiled At Folsom MWD DIRECTORS AUTHORIZE TAX INCREASE

FOUR GUNS DISCOVERED INSIDE WALLS

Convict Uprising Balked When Guards Search Working Crew

FOLSOM PRISON, Cal., Aug. 15.—(UP)—A widespread jail delivery plot by convicts was believed frustrated today when Warden Clarence Larkin reported discovery of an attempt to smuggle guns into the prison yard.

Three automatic pistols were recovered by guards in a search of prisoners outside the walls, while a fourth pistol was found during a search of the institution's 2800 inmates, Larkin said.

First intimation that the convicts planned an uprising came when a section crew composed of prisoners working on the railroad connecting the prison with Folsom City were given a routine search as they were being returned to the prison yard last night. In a bundle of laundry carried by Chester Aylmes, 52, San Francisco burglar, the guards found a .25 caliber automatic pistol. Further search revealed a .32 caliber pistol hidden in his trousers' leg.

Questioning of other members of the section crew elicited the information that another gun was hidden along the tracks between the prison and Folsom. Guards went to the designated spot and recovered another pistol of .32 caliber.

Col. S. H. Finley, secretary and Santa Ana's representative on the MWD board of directors, had predicted that the tax rate for the next fiscal year would be close to 40 cents, as compared with 29 cents last year.

Setting of the new tax rate will mean that Santa Ana, Anaheim and Fullerton, member cities of the district, will pay close to $200,000 as their share of the costs next year.

The MWD tax rate started out at three cents increasing each year until now it is 37 cents. Colonel Finley said it is probable another increase will be seen next year. He pointed out that it is natural for the tax rate to increase, inasmuch as the more money that is spent to bring

Each year, the little strip of land that separates the ocean from Newport Harbor, is crowded to capacity with throngs of visitors who come for hundreds of miles to witness the Tournament of Lights. The annual event originated with the idea of celebrating the discovery of the Pacific ocean by Vasco Nunez Balboa in 1513. PRISON BREAK PLOT FOILED to discover fingerprints that may lead to the persons who "planted" the weapons along the tracks.

NO FINGERPRINTS FOUND ON GUNS

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Aug. 15.—(UP)—Four automatic pistols found during a search of convicts at Folsom prison were "wiped clean" and showed no fingerprints, experts in the state department of criminal identification determined today.

Serial numbers on the guns were taken in an effort to trace their ownership.

Warden Clarence Larkin, who brought the guns here, said a thorough search of the entire prison was being made and would continue until he was convinced no other weapons had been smuggled into the institution. He said he had no definite idea for whom the guns were intended. There are at least 500 prisoners in Folsom desperate enough to attempt a break if the opportunity presented itself. Larkin said.

Extra Ammunition

Extra ammunition found with the guns led Larkin to believe a plot as serious as that which precipitated the bloody 1937 Thanksgiving riot was discovered.

Larkin said the four guns first were hidden in an old car outside the prison and near the railroad tracks connecting the prison with Folsom City. They probably were placed there, he believed, by friends or fellow conspirators of inmates. Chester Ayhmes, convict on night move, the car closer to the walls, moved the guns to the wall.

One gun—believed to be the one found in the yard today—was smuggled into the prison three nights ago, the warden was told by an informer.

FOR PREACHES AGAINST WAR

vigorous public opinion in favor of peace.

Greatest official caution to avoid any step or action which might lead toward embroilment of the United States in war.

4. Extension and development of the "good neighbor policy" in the western hemisphere, seeking to weld North and South America into an area, comprising half the world, in which peace will always reign.

At one point the President spoke a personal anathema against war and his voice was even more forceful than his words.

"I have seen war," he said.

"I have seen war on land and sea."

"I have seen blood running from the wounded."

"I have seen men coughing out their gassed lungs."

"I have seen the dead in the mud."

"I have seen cities destroyed."

"I have seen 200 limping, exhausted men come out of the line—the survivors of a regiment of 1000 that went forward 48 hours before."

"I have seen children starving."

"I have seen the agony of mothers and wives."

"I hate war."

"I have passed unnumbered hours and I shall pass unnumbered hours thinking and planning how war may be kept from the United States of America."

"I wish I could keep war from all nations; but that is beyond my power. I can at least make certain that no act of the United States helps to produce or to promote war. I can at least make clear that the conscience of America revolts against war and that any nation which provokes war forfeits the sympathy of the people of the United States."

The President seemed to confess his disillusionment over the workability of a "good neighbor" policy amid Europe's political intrigue, racial, social and religious hatreds; economic greed, historical animosities and territorial ambitions.

But he declared a "live and let live" policy for the United States. This nation has no territorial ambitions. It opposes imperialism. It does not seek to impose its social, religious or economic ideas upon other countries.

The president made a pointed distinction between "our good neighbors" of the western hemisphere and merely "our neighbors across the seas."

"Throughout the Americas the spirit of the good neighbor is a practical and living fact," he said.

"The 21 American republics are not only living together in friend-

U. S. Annexes Land—in Colorado

"No Man's Land," a 1500 square mile area high in Colorado's Rocky Mountains, is now officially part of the United States after being unclaimed by any nation for more than a century. Gov. Edwin C. Johnson is seen above raising the American flag at the climax of annexation ceremonies in Breckenridge, Colo., one of the towns in the area.

Paul A. Palmer of Lido Isle, and Mayor Harry H. Williamson.

In some respects, the spectacular event is comparable with the annual Tournament of Roses at Pasadena. Entered in the contests are representatives from many of Southern California's communities. Pasadena will have a large yacht with sails of balloons which will be revealed by flood lights. Other entries include representatives from Long Beach, Glendale, Santa Monica, Huntington Beach, Santa Ana, Fullerton, Anaheim, Laguna Beach, Pomona, Redlands, Riverside, Costa Mesa Lions club and Corona Del Mar, besides numerous private entries. Many Southern California yachting clubs will also be represented in the blazing parade of water craft.

Fireworks Display

Included in the evening's program will be one of the most gorgeous fireworks displays ever staged at the beach city. Presentation of the spectacular pyrotechnics portion of the festival will be under the direction of Fire Chief Frank Crocker, assisted by members of his department. The display is scheduled to start at 8 p. m. from the west end of the 19th street landing. Another fireworks display, scheduled to start at 8:30 p. m., will be presented from Harbor Island.

Hundreds of young people are expected to participate in the contests tonight, and in order to insure their safety, Harbor Master Thomas Boucher will patrol the course of the parade to keep inconsiderate motorboat drivers from crashing into the line of the parade. Many trophies are being presented to the young people who participate in the event. The awards will be in the form of cash prizes.

Ship and in peace; they are united in the determination so to remain."

Turning to Europe, he said "a dark old world was devastated by wars between conflicting religions."

A dark modern world faces wars between conflicting economic and political fanatisms in which are intertwined race hatreds."

The United States has no part of the wars, he said in calling upon the American people and American business to assist the government in keeping the country out of war by foregoing the quick profits of war boom trade with belligerents.

He termed these profits "fool's gold," which he said would later blight the nation.

KEN Murray SAYS:

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—As the result of a combination of regimented farming and droughts, the Federal Crop Reporting Board forecasts that our corn production for 1936 will be the smallest in fifty years. . . . It seems the crops are so low that even the crows are expected to be put on relief.

All this must be very disconcerting to those New Dealers who are promising their constituents the best of everything. . . . Imagine! Plenty of cream, but no cornflakes.

Naturally, the boys in Washington feel that it's unfair to blame them for a food shortage due to droughts that just happened to occur during their administration.

And of course, Hoover felt the same way about the earthquake that just happened to hit the stock market during his.

Seems to me that the government would be better able to control the corn situation if it disposed of a few professors, and replaced them with chiropractors. (Copyright, 1936, McNaughton, Inc.)

EXPECT THOUSANDS TO HEAR HAMILTON

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 15.—(UP)—John D. M. Hamilton will speak tonight at Hollywood bowl in his west coast tour seeking additional backers of the London Republican presidential candidacy.

The national Republican chairman predicted upon arrival in his chartered plane, headquarters of a 6,000 mile swing, that California would rejoin Republican ranks.

He was met by his mother, Mrs. Mary Hamilton, his actor brother, Hale Hamilton, and his brother's wife, Grace La Rue, former musical comedy star.

Hamilton's party now includes Mrs. John Hillman, vice-chairman of the women's division of the Republican campaign.

Hamilton said he had received word that the "solid south" was swinging toward London as it did toward Hoover in 1928. "There is," he said, "no question about Governor London's election."

PREDICT CANNED FOOD SHORTAGE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15.—(UP)—A serious shortage in the supply of canned vegetables for the 1936-37 season because of the drought was foreseen today by the agricultural department.

The prospective supply decreased by 12 per cent during July.

In an official statement, the department's bureau of agricultural economics estimated the supply of canned vegetables for the coming season would be 92,000,000 cases. This prediction was based on the condition of crops as of Aug. 1. Only one month earlier, it appeared that 104,000,000 cases would be available.

CASTING CHAMPION BREAKS OWN RECORD

PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 15.—(UP)—Marvin Hedge of Portland today was a re-established as world's champion distance fly-caster following his performance in which he broke his own world record.

Hedge regained the title held in 1934. He relinquished it last year to Ernest Liotta, of Cleveland.

"His winning cast was 151 feet, four over his 1934 effort which produced the former record," G. L. McLeod of Salt Lake City pressed closely in the competition, unrelenting 149 feet.

Hedge's average for his three casts was 142 1/3 feet, which also bettered his old world record of 141 feet.

COUGHLIN TIES ENDORSE LEMKE

party ticket of Lemke and Thomas C. O'Brien, vice presidential nominee, had been approved by three of the largest state delegations, Michigan, New York and Massachusetts.

The demonstration was set off by political parades, sung by the priest's shrine of the Little Flower quartet and developed quickly into a whooping scramble toward the front of the hall.

A miniature coffin, rubber mice and rats dangled from it, was rushed into the parade. It was the political bier—as of next election day—of Rep. John J. O'Connor, D., N. Y., who once threatened to kick Father Coughlin around Washington streets.

For 28 minutes the men and women who accept the social, economic and political teaching of the formation through the aisles. Straight through the show the quartet blared music into the loud speakers and the priest finally leaped to a microphone to join in the singing. The coffin was carried to the platform to be photographed near where the priest sat.

Meanwhile, the NUSJ moved to challenge constitutionality of the Federal Reserve act.

Resolutions submitted to the convention instructed NUSJ officers to bring suit and protested "usurpation of power" by the Roosevelt administration and existence of "private control over money." The resolutions were received with cheers.

GROWERS MEET WITH WORKERS

Muniz and his liege, who signed the petition now under discussion, signed the original petition sent to citrus growers, prior to the citrus strike, and as members of their unions, and their secretaries, they were active during the citrus strike. Velarde was arrested during the strike and charged with vagrancy, charges to be aired further in court at Fullerton later.

Today's petition was directed to R. A. Chaffee and Lucas Lucio, officials of the grievance committee, and given to the Japanese ranchers. Pablo de la Cruz of Westminster, Mexican spokesman today declared the past year's contract between workers and ranchers had been violated "upon several occasions, when less than 25 cents per hour was paid to workers, but Muracka explained the complaints had never been brought to attention of the Japanese associations.

Those present today included: Muroaka and Sesaki; and Messrs. Ishi and Oka, Smeltzer; Hara, Irvine; Sarowarari, Irvine; Matoba, Laguna Beach; Fujita, Laguna Beach; Sakamoto, Laguna Beach; and Shinto, of the Japanese association of Orange county. Others were L. P. Alvarado, Anaheim, who assisted Lucio in interpreting; de la Cruz; Muniz; Alex Hernandez, Alberto Lares, Marcelo Sienaz, Alex Garcia and Lazaro Morales.

Following last year's vegetable workers' strike, a special arbitration committee composed of Stuart Strathman, Placentia; the Rev. Graham Hunter, Fullerton; and Thomas Barker, deputy state labor commissioner, Los Angeles, their action was credited with settlement of the strike last year.

Barker did not appear at today's meeting but declared in a letter to Lucio, he would be here at a later date to assist in the arbitration of the present matter. The Mexican group, according to Lucio, indicated they would agree to a contract providing for 30 cents instead of 25 cents as hourly wage for vegetable pickers.

Today's petition also demanded that the Japanese ranchers employ only 10 per cent non-union workers.

LOCAL BRIEFS

The fire department was called to the home of F. N. Edmunds, 1117 Oak street, at 9:55 a. m. today to extinguish a trash fire which threatened the home garage. The trash fire had spread to a small cypress tree, adjacent to the garage. No damage was done to the garage, reports show.

Six-room frame and stucco residence, with garage, will be constructed at once at 1507 Louise street, for $4000, following issuance of building permit yesterday by Building Inspector Sam Preble to H. C. Head, owner. Roy Russell will handle construction.

Wind velocity yesterday averaged 3.6 m. p. h., according to records at the Santa Ana Junior college meteorological station. Temperatures ranged from 89 at 5 a. m. to 83 at 3 p. m. Relative humidity was 72 per cent at 7 p. m.

MWD DIRECTORS INCREASE TAX

Colorado river water here, the more there is to pay out on bonds and interest.

Made for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1937, the new levy will pay interest on aqueduct construction bonds and repay the Los Angeles Department of Water and Power about $1,000,000 advanced by that body to finance early work on the water supply system.

Reason For Boost

Large additional sums of money being invested in construction work this year make necessary an increase over last year's rate of 20 cents. It was stated by the district controller. Several district cities in the past have paid all or part of their levies from city-owned utility revenues, thus reducing or entirely eliminating the necessity of tax levies.

During the year about $50,000 will be invested in aqueduct construction, $20,000,000 of which goes directly into pay for rolls for aqueduct bulifiers drawn from 13 district cities. Another $12,000,000 is going to industrial workers making the materials and equipment used on the big job.

For each dollar collected from the district levy, there will be about $4.50 of aqueduct bond money paid to men given employment through aqueduct construction, it was estimated.

Cities in the district are Anaheim, Beverly Hills, Burbank, Fullerton, Glendale, Long Beach, Los Angeles, Pasadena, San Marino, Santa Ana, Santa Monica and Torrance.

Most of the dead were left where they lay. Bodies were thrown as far as 100 yards from the tracks.

The party on the truck, ranging in age from boys of 14 to elderly men, were turning to Louiseville from a political meeting at Ste. Justine, Quebec has a provincial election Monday.

Authorities were unable to learn immediately from the shocked and hysterical survivors why the accident occurred.

The driver was Edmond Houle, 40. All but one of the rest of the dead were identified as local residents.

Gasoline from the big truck's burst tanks flooded the roadbed and saturated the clothing of men pinned in the wreckage and burned until consumed. Dirt, sand and cinders that trainmen threw on it had no effect.

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 15.—(UP)—Eddie Cantor announced today he has called Jesse Owens, Negro sprinter, a $40,000 offer to turn professional under Cantor's management 10 weeks.

"I read reports he intends to turn professional," said the comedian, reached back-stage at a theater where he is appearing. "I called him that if he is serious, I would deposit $40,000 in a bank to put him under my management for 10 weeks."

"I might never get my money back, but I'd do it just to be sure he got into the right hands when he turns professional." Cantor said he did not plan to have Owens go on the stage with him in one of the comedian's own acts.

"I would manage him," Cantor explained. "I would see that he got into the right theaters, and to the right universities, and perhaps a few high class boys' camps."

lances were summoned from towns for many miles. Some of the most seriously injured were sent by ambulance to Montreal for emergency operations. Physicians said condition of 14 of the injured was critical. The remaining four injured jumped from the truck before the train struck.

Most of the dead were left where they lay. Bodies were thrown as far as 100 yards from the tracks.

Richot was the first person, besides members of the train crew, to reach the scene.

The party on the truck, ranging in age from boys of 14 to elderly men, were turning to Louiseville from a political meeting at Ste. Justine, Quebec has a provincial election Monday.

Authorities were unable to learn immediately from the shocked and hysterical survivors why the accident occurred.

The driver was Edmond Houle, 40. All but one of the rest of the dead were identified as local residents.

Gasoline from the big truck's burst tanks flooded the roadbed and saturated the clothing of men pinned in the wreckage and burned until consumed. Dirt, sand and cinders that trainmen threw on it had no effect.

OWENS $40,000

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 15.—(UP)—Eddie Cantor announced today he has called Jesse Owens, Negro sprinter, a $40,000 offer to turn professional under Cantor's management 10 weeks.

"I read reports he intends to turn professional," said the comedian, reached back-stage at a theater where he is appearing. "I called him that if he is serious, I would deposit $40,000 in a bank to put him under my management for 10 weeks."

"I might never get my money back, but I'd do it just to be sure he got into the right hands when he turns professional." Cantor said he did not plan to have Owens go on the stage with him in one of the comedian's own acts.

"I would manage him," Cantor explained. "I would see that he got into the right theaters, and to the right universities, and perhaps a few high class boys' camps."

Believe Rancher Is Murder Victim

TRUCKEE, Cal., Aug. 15.—(UP)—Authorities today sought a motive for the apparent murder of Joseph McSherry, 45, war veteran and former Dixon ranch worker, whose body was found in the Truckee river.

Deputy Coroner Ben Tonini said he believed McSherry was beaten on the head before he was thrown into the river.

BRET HARTE'S BIRTHDAY WILL BE CELEBRATED

LOS ANGELES — Mrs. Lillian Bret Harte, of this city, granddaughter of California's early poet, has definitely decided that Harte was born on Aug. 18, 1836.

Her decision will make possible the carrying out of plans for the celebration this month of Harte's centenary both here and at Albany, N. Y., his birthplace.

As his most direct, lineal descendant, her final decision is also expected to settle the controversy that has been waged for years as to the exact date of the famous poet's birth. The leeway has been from 1836, which Harte himself seemed to prefer, to 1839, which many historical evidences seem to indicate, although the date on Harte's tombstone in England is 1837.

Birth Once Placed in 1839

For a great many years 1839 generally was accepted as the proper year for the birth of the man who once weighed out powders in an Oakland apothecary's shop and who in the '50s taught school in Contra Costa county, to become still later one of America's great poets.

Prof. G. R. Stewart, one of the most astute students of Harte, avers that the latter permitted a certain legend to grow up around him and might not have been adverse to handling the date of his birth a little carelessly.

Stewart's article, which first was published about eight years ago, says that Harte, desiring to give the public what it wanted, allowed himself to be painted as a "hero, chasing bandits, digging gold, subduing entire lawless communities," rather than as the gentlemanly, former drug clerk, private tutor, schoolmaster and typesetter that he really was.

However, California historians have established definitely that Harte was dealing out pills at Oakland in 1854 and teaching school a year later.

They point out, therefore, that if Harte really was born in 1839 as he preferred to have believed, he would have been a drugist at the age of 15 and a schoolteacher at about 16, something which they frankly admit that even the California climate could hardly have produced.

However, to complicate matters, in 1928 William McDevitt, bookman and editor, announced that he had found on the San Francisco Great Register an entry, dated June 29, 1856, in which Harte swore he would be 30 on his nearest birthday, given there as Aug. 29, 1866. Thus, in addition to there being four or more years in which Harte might have been born, there are also three different possible birthdates—Aug. 15, 25 and 29.

However, for all century purposes Mrs. Lillian Bret Harte has definitely decided that the year of his birth shall be 1836 and the day Aug. 15.

DEATH NOTICES

A WORD OF COMFORT

The power to feel the radiance of the dawn, the exhilaration of high endeavor and the sense of pent-up energy which demands exercise and expression seem to have deserted you. Everything looks drab and uninteresting just now.

Rest a bit without thinking too much. Watch the children who lose their happiness in untrammelled play. See how they live one moment at a time, and then catch the note of trustfulness which sustains them. Their radiant joyousness is epidemic. You know that it is real, and some of it will steal into your own heart, giving you power to go on.

McNEILL—Mrs. Melva McNeill, 49, at a Riverside hospital yesterday. Funeral arrangements are to be announced by the C. W. Coffey chapel, Orange. Mrs. McNeill was a resident of California 30 years and was born in Jamestown, Kan. Survivors are her husband John D. McNeill, three daughters, Elizabeth D., Dorothy May and Clara Alberta; one son, John Robert; four sisters, Coffey, Johnson, President; Mrs. Effie Smith, and Mrs. Minnie Burdick, Jamestown, Kan.; and Mrs. Pearl W. Redmond, two brothers, Will Martin of Monrovia, and Joe Martin, of Anaheim.

CARLISLE—In Santa Ana, August 14, A. Homer Carlisle, 61, who was survived by his wife Dorothy Carlisle of this city, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Carlisle of 324 1/2 Orange Ave., one sister, Mrs. Ople Gould of Los Angeles, six brothers, Dora, Gertie, John, Lloyd, Roscoe and James all of this city and one aunt, Mrs. Della Crawley of San Juan Capistrano. Announcement of services will be made later by the Winbiger Mortuary, 609 No. Main street.

STATEMENTS ON COUNTY BUDGET ARE EXPLAINED

Statements in the current tax digest issued by the California Taxpayers association, to the effect that the Orange county budget for this year is $769,102 higher than county expenditures for the preceding year, were questioned, as to clarity, today by County Auditor W. T. Lambert.

"When items of this year's budget are explained," said Lambert, "it will be seen that the budget is but little more than $100,000 above the actual expenditures of last year, comparing item to item."

About $660,000 of the $769,102 mentioned as an increase by the tax digest should not have been used in the comparison, according to the county auditor.

For example, he said, about $310,000 included in this year's county budget, will be money received from state and federal governments for social security purposes. This is not a county expenditure.

Another $227,000 of the "increase," said Lambert, is represented by cash reserves carried over from last year. They are set up in the budget, of necessity, but there is no intention to expend them, he explained.

Still another $65,000 is represented by anticipated increases in gas tax receipts from the state, as compared to last year's receipts. The sum of $58,000 is set up in this year's budget for election expenses, such an item not being included in last year's expenditures only because there were no elections last year.

Court Notes

Two foreclosure judgments were granted yesterday to Blake G. G. Smith in superior court suits against Elizabeth Cooley and others, one being a $599.45 lien foreclosure, the other being foreclosure of a $563.70 beneficial interest under a trust. Both foreclosures affect property at Arch Beach.

Kathryn Ater yesterday filed suit in superior court against Jessie M. Havens, to foreclose a $5000 mortgage against property at Seal Beach.

Charging desertion and non-support, Mrs. Gladys Ledbetter yesterday filed suit in superior court for a divorce from Luther Ledbetter, whom she married at Huntsville, Ark., October 12, 1923. They separated on the day following their tenth wedding anniversary.

Malcolm Nelson, charged with violating probation for burglary, by a statutory offense against a 16-year-old Mexican girl at Placentia, was allowed a continuance of probation on the burglary charge yesterday but was denied probation for the statutory offense, for which Superior Judge James L. Allen sentenced him to one year in the county jail.

Mrs. Meda A. Gallagher charged Everett B. Gallagher with desertion and non-support, in filing suit for divorce in superior court late yesterday. The Gallaghers married in Fullerton in 1927 and separated August 15, 1932.

When Birger Crownquist married his second wife in Vancouver, Wash., December 9, 1925, he thought he was an unmarried man, having received a letter from his first wife, Anna, telling him that she had obtained a divorce from him in another state. But later he found that the divorce really had not been granted until March 25, 1927, he stated today in filing suit in superior court here, to annul the second marriage. The complaint names his second wife, Mary M. Crownquist, as defendant. He separated from her in 1929.

Mrs. Sybil J. Rambo today filed suit in superior court to annul the marriage of her son, Arthur, 20, to Irene Corie Rambo, which took place at Yuma last June 26. The youth lacked parental consent to his marriage, the annulment petition states.

Millie Van Dusen today filed an appeal in superior court from the $51.50 judgment awarded against her recently in Anaheim small claims court, in favor of C. L. McComber.

Police News

Arrested by Sheriff Logan Jackson when he found them at the Kemp service station, Huntington Beach boulevard and Ocean avenue, Westminister, last night, three men were booked at county jail, charged with being drunk on a county highway. Their car was impounded for safe-keeping. The men were Charles W. Fay, 41, San Diego, owner of the car; James Lyssesight, 65, Long Beach, and A. D. Sweet, 41, Long Beach.

R. H. Masters, 29, Compton, charged with failure to live up to terms of his probation, was sentenced by Judge Kenneth Morrison in Santa Ana justice court today to one year in county jail, the sentence suspended for two years providing Masters pays $25 per month toward the support of a minor child, living here. Masters was originally charged with failure to support the child.

Held for Glendale police who have a petty theft warrant for him, George A. Hazen, 29, Los Angeles, bookkeeper, was rebuked at county jail today. Hazen has just completed a sentence here after conviction of petty theft in Santa Ana, records show.

MERCHANTS AND RESIDENTS OF CITY DIVIDED ON SLOT MACHINE PARKING IN S. A.

By KENNETH ADAMS

Business men and women of Santa Ana, while divided, agreed by a large majority today that charging motorists for parking on local business streets might help solve the perplexing traffic problem—by driving business away from Santa Ana.

While some individuals and attorneys held it would be unconstitutional to charge taxpayers who had paid for the streets for using those same streets, others held that the law permits city regulatory powers which would permit the city to make a "reasonable" charge for parking in congested areas. Judicial opinions were cited to show that the city could make the charge.

Business men, ranchers and women, when interviewed today, expressed strong disfavor toward the project, which came to the public notice Thursday following a secret meeting of the city council. It was learned that Councilman Ernest Layton left for an extended trip to investigate the feasibility of the plan.

J. C. Horton, prominent Santa Ana business man, expressed outright opposition to the meter parking plan. "I am opposed to anything that will penalize patrons of Santa Ana," he said. "It is possible that something can be worked out to keep all-day parking off the street, but I do not think five-cent parking meters will do it. Something should be done for the people who try to trade here, and they should not be made to go to other towns."

LANDON KNOX CLUB ORGANIZED HERE

A nucleus of what promises to be the first of the many Landon-Knox precinct clubs in Orange county, met last night at the home of A. A. May, 739 South Birch street, and elected officers. The newly formed club has as its membership at present the following residents of precinct 39: Willard Lake, E. Y. S. Pomeroy, Mrs. Walter Prince, Walter Prince, Mrs. Charles Pritchard, Irma H. May and Arthur May.

Following a discussion of plans for the coming campaign, an election of officers was held. May was selected as president of the club, with Prince as secretary.

CHINESE PEDDLER IS GIVEN WARNING

Officer George Boyd said Hoo Fung Dun, Chinese vegetable peddler, will not drive his truck on the wrong side of Santa Ana streets any more—that is, if Mr. Dun, after the old Chinese custom, keeps his promise unerringly.

According to residents of the 3900-block, Riverside drive, Mr. Dun yesterday was driving back and forth from curb to curb, as he sold his produce, and interfering with passing traffic. "I will not get on the wrong side of the street any more," Mr. Dun told Officer Boyd. The officer is reported to have left Mr. Dun as the latter began humming, "Stay on the Right Side of the Road."

Club No. 2 will meet Monday in Townsend hall at 599 West Fourth street, at 7:30 o'clock. Community singing will be led by Mrs. Cora Graham followed by a Townsend speech by Walter R. Robb who will speak on the subject, "Will the Townsends Win?"

PENNEY PLANS KIBBITZER IS FOR REOPENING ARRESTED ON IN NEXT WEEK BATTERY COUNT

Preparing for a gala reopening to be held next week, the J. C. Penney company store at Fourth and Bush streets was a beehive of activity today as a crew of workmen were putting the finishing touches on the great remodeling and expansion program at the popular department store.

Manager F. A. Jones announced today that the store will be closed next Wednesday to permit final work on the big expansion and improvement program.

The entire store will be departmentalized, Mr. Jones announced, making shopping many times more easy for the shopper. There will be more room, and all articles will be classified in departments to facilitate shopping. Stocks will be larger and more varied than even in the past, and shoppers will find additional comfort in trading at the Penney store, Mr. Jones said.

The main floor is to be entirely redecorated in keeping with modern trends. The exterior of the large store also will be redecorated.

The greatest improvements will be made on the mezzanine and second floors. Congestion will be relieved on the mezzanine floor through addition of a 1000 more foot of space and by placing the silks and domestic goods department on the mezzanine.

The new addition, the second floor, will add 9000 feet to the total floor space of the store. Here on the second floor will be the millinery, complete baby department boys' department, ready-to-wear, drapes and curtains, etc.

THREE TO MAKE 'CHUTE JUMPS

They'll float through the air with the greatest of ease, these daring young men in the pretty white parachutes. Three of them, all told, will stop off into space tomorrow and pray that the nice white silk 'chutes strapped to their backs will open.

Jimmy Washburn, Santa Ana youth who is in training for the parachute jumping contest to be held in connection with the National Air Races in Los Angeles; Troy Colboch, who holds a non-competitive championship, and Dick Hall, student jumper from Long Beach, are the jumpers who will entertain the crowds at the airport tomorrow.

All three of the young men will try to land on a circular target marked on the field.

A unique feature of the exhibition will be the double jump at 3:30 P. M., when Colboch and Hall jump simultaneously, both with the idea of landing on the same little circle marked on the field. Airport officials feel that this feature of the program may prove very interesting indeed. Washburn will make his leap for the mark at 4:30 P. M.

GIANTS CAPTURE 24 OF LAST 24 STARTS

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—(UP)—Bill Terry's New York Giants leaned forward in the National league jockey seat today, ready, they felt, for whatever rough riding they may encounter in the stretch race for the bunting.

When the Giants defeated the lowly Phillies, 3-0, yesterday, they completed one of the finest one-month stretches of winning baseball ever put together.

In Pittsburgh July 15 the New Yorkers were bogged in fifth place, a game below the 500 mark and 10 games behind the Chicago Cubs, then setting the pace. They dropped nine games in ten starts. Then in the second game of a double-header against the Pirates they broke out in a 14-run rash that seemed to put new life in them.

Twenty-four victories in 29 starts is the Giants' record for the 30-day period ended Aug. 14 and, if anything, they seem still on the upgrade.

The Giants and the Chicago Cubs, who defeated Cincinnati, 7-5, both picked up half-a-game on the pace-setting St. Louis Cardinals, who were playing an exhibition game with St. Paul. The Cubs are only half a game out of first place and the Giants 21-2.

Cleveland cut the lead of New York's Yankees to 10 games in the American league.

Tuesday's Games

Anaheim at Santa Ana; Huntington Beach at Westminster; Orange at Olive.

One day next week President Walter Wentz will call into conference the business directors of Santa Ana and Huntington Beach to decide when and where the National Night Ball league's 1936 "Little World Series" will begin.

That these clubs, finalists also last year, will "play off" for the title again was definitely decided last night when Santa Ana took Olive in stride, 13 to 5, while Huntington Beach was taking it on the chin from Anaheim, 9 to 5.

Now Santa Ana can lose its last three games and still win the second-half. Contests remain with Anaheim, Westminster and Orange before the schedule is completed Aug. 25. It is quite possible the big series will get under way the night of Friday, Aug. 28 since officials are anxious to finish the series before it conflicts with football. As usual, it will be a four-out-of-seven affair, with the winner later representing the National league against either Covina or San Bernardino for the Southern California association championship.

Rod Ballard had a lot to do with the Stars' easy triumph over Olive. The bespectacled veteran, long the best defensive outfielder in the league, turned his talents to the attack. In the second inning he blasted a double with the bases full, scoring all three runners. He doubled again in the third, driving in two more. And in the ninth his single accounted for still another.

Since he later scored himself on two occasions, Ballard either drove in or personally tallied eight of Santa Ana's 13 runs.

Ballard's original two-bagger came with two out and started Pitcher Jack Dugan along the road to destruction. The Stars hacked at him for 13 hits, Ballard, Jim Coates and Tom Denney pacing with three apiece. Ray Smith blasted two long doubles.

Olive rang the bell three times in the seventh, twice in the ninth when Poltz drove a long fly high into the bleachers only to have it bounce out for a double. Then Ward Sheldon came along with a home run that hugged the right field line. The score:

Scoring two in the first, three in the fifth, two in the sixth and two in the eighth, Anaheim eliminated Huntington Beach from the second-half race, 9-5. Bill McKinley was on the ridge for the Olive and took a 13-hit onslaught with L. Daley and Webb showing the way.

Huntington Beach made all its runs in the sixth during a five-run rally which Paul Neva climaxed with a home run with two on. The score:

PINK PLASTER PASSION

Old Man Sharkey's Return One of Boxing's Never Ceasing Wonders

(This is the first of three articles on the Sharkey-Louis fight—Sport editor's note.)

By HARRY GRAYSON
(Sports Editor, NEA Service)

ORANGEBURG, N. Y., Aug. 15.—The Jack Sharkey-Joe Louis meeting at Yankee stadium Tuesday night requires plenty of smoke.

Optimistic Mike Jacobs scaled the ball yard to $400,000, with the prices running from $2 to $10, but now admits that he will be fortunate if it does $150,000.

Sharkey's last New York appearance, against Primo Carnera in the Sunken Garden of Queens in 1933, left a bad taste. Suddenly struck by an invisible up-percut in the sixth round that stary night, the Squire of Chestnut Hill laid down and played dead. When he was "revived," Sharkey didn't sob as was his custom in victory. Instead, he threw kisses to the crowd as if to say, "Well, so long, sucker!"

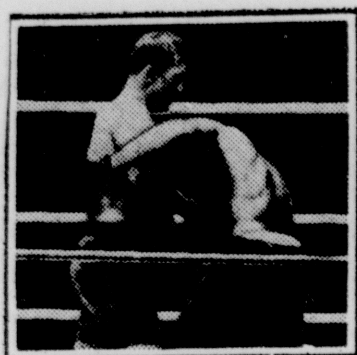

Everybody agreed that the game finally was rid of Sharkey, and his return in a major capacity is one of boxing's never-ceasing wonders.

Sharkey in this instance is being built solely on the strength of his decision over Phil Brubaker, the California theological student, in Boston. Brubaker, who had accomplished little out of the ordinary on the coast, had the first-while sailor on the deck in the first round.

Much is being made of the fact that Sharkey whipped the two Black Menaces, George Godfrey and Harry Wills, within a period of three weeks in 1926. The bally-hoo bureau neglects to mention the fact that Godfrey never did get anywhere in particular, that Wills then was older than Sharkey is today, and that the feats were performed 10 years ago.

It is difficult to imagine the Sharkey of 1936 knocking out the Louis who withstood Max Schmeling's withering fire for 12 rounds, or outgunning the colored lad who critics were comparing with the masters before the German demonstrated that he carried his left guard too low.

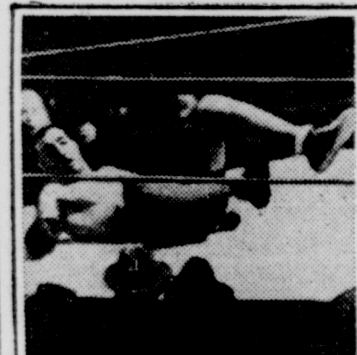

In the Brubaker engagement, Sharkey showed that he was trying to deliver, however. The old bluejacket apparently has convinced himself that he can repel Louis. He formerly was dangerous in this state of mind. He is a grand front runner, and may give the young Negro some trouble if he gets through the early heats. The ex-champion knows all there is to know about boxing.

The contest is for only 10 rounds, which is right down Sharkey's alley. He does not like the longer route. His good and bad fights of the past were of his own making. Minus fear of the other fellow he formerly was able to do a lot of unexpected things.

The break-busting business will be in a sorry fix if Sharkey proves Louis to be even more inflated than many suspected flattening by Schmeling. There then would be three old men in front, Jim Braddock, Schmeling and Sharkey.

But when Sharkey takes a peek at Louis across the way and realizes that there is no chance to get out of the ring, he is liable to do a Max Baer and quiver on his pins. He is a pugilistic nobody when he loses his cocksureness. Sharkey, although well fixed financially, has plenty of incentive. The erstwhile sob is spurred by Schmeling's success against Louis. He keenly dislikes Schmeling, who kept him waiting two years for a return match after he fouled the German into the championship.

Unlike other old warriors who went into the tavern business, Sharkey didn't abuse himself at the bar. He always was clean liver, and today, training in the ramshackle old camp here, scales only a fraction more than 195 pounds, which was his best fighting weight when he was in his prime.

"Louis won't lay a glove on me," vehemently asserts Sharkey, with much of the same self-confidence he exuded prior to eliminating the two other noteworthy Black Menaces of the misty past, Godfrey and Wills.

That might not be a bad idea for Sharkey at that—not letting Louis lay a glove on him.

BROWN BOMBER 7-5 OVER JACK SHARKEY

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—Joe Louis rules a 7 to 5 betting favorite over Jack Sharkey for their 10-round bout in Yankee stadium Tuesday night.

The Brown Bomber's youth, heavier punch and apparent good college prospect, believe him a choice over the Boston sailor, who is 12 years older and had been out of the ring 2-1/2 years until his recent comeback.

Reid is a young giant of 6:4 who could use about 20 more pounds on his huge frame for variety purposes. He now scales 190. Reid is tremendously fast for such a tall man.

Crowther is big and broader. A good-natured wisecracker with loads of confidence, he has the ideal football temperament. Perhaps he won't be serious enough for Coach Howard Jones who stands for no levity among his disciples.

Reid and Crowther were two of the youngest boys ever to make the Saint eleven. Crowther was a regular at 15; Reid at 16. Jim is just turning 17 now; Reid will not be 18 until November. Robinson is nearly 19.

When they grow up they ought to be good. In fact, they are now. Just a tip for your football future book.

MAY BOSS RANGERS

Bill Cook, scoring ace of the New York Rangers National Hockey league team, may manage the squad if Lester Patrick, president of the club, is moved up as vice-president of the club.

BRITISH SMASH WORLD RECORD IN MILE RELAY

LONDON, Aug. 15.—(UP)—Three world relay records were broken during the British Empire-United States track and field meet at White city today before 30,000 persons, largest crowd ever to attend an athletic meet in England.

The United States two-mile relay team set the first record in the opening event of the games, covering the distance in 7 minutes, 35 8-10 seconds to beat the British team by three yards. Members of the U. S. team were Hornbostel, Young, Williamson and Woodruff. The former record was 7:41.4 made by the Boston A. A. in 1926.

The British raced to a new world record of 3 min. 10 6-10 sec. in winning the mile relay by half-a-yard from the United States. The former world mark was 3:12.6 made by Stanford University at Fresno, Cal., May 5, 1931.

British Crowd Thrilled

The mile relay brought the usually phlegmatic British crowd to its feet during the last lap when Godfrey Brown, bespectacled Cambridge university student, outran Jimmy Luvalle, U. C. L. A. Negro. Luvalle started the last lap two yards ahead of Brown, but the Briton gradually overhauled Luvalle in the final 60 yards.

William Roberts gave the British a 2-foot lead by outracing Archie Williams, Olympic 400-meter champion, on the first leg. Godfrey Lionel Rampling fumbled the baton on the change, overran and led the lead to Al Fitch. Glenn Hardin, running the third lap, had a foot lead over the Canadian, William Fritz, at the start and increased it to two yards. Brown's thrilling finish wiped out the United States lead.

San Romani Decides 4-Mile

The third world relay record fell when the United States 4-mile quartet raced the distance in 17 min. 17 2-10 sec., finishing 50 yards ahead of the British. Members of the record-breaking United States team were Hornbostel, Venzke, San Romani and Cunningham. San Romani decided the race when he gave a 25-yard lead to Cunningham, running the anchor lap.

Henry Dreyer, Providence, captured the hammer throw with a distance of 168 feet, 1 1/2 inch. The British empire won the 2-mile steeplechase relay in 8 min. 7 6-10 sec. The United States team composed of Dawson, Williamson, McCuskey and Manning finished a foot behind the winners.

Johnson Takes High Jump

Cornelius Johnson, Compton Negro, leaped 6 feet, 7 inches to take the high jump. Dave Albright, Ohio State, was second at 6:5 1-2 and Delos Thurber third at 6:3 inches. Jesse Owens gave several exhibition leaps in the broad jumps, averaging about 24 feet.

Milton Courtwright, Canada, won the javelin with a distance of 217 feet, 6 1-2 inches. Alton Terry, was second with 215:1 1-2; Malcolm Metcalf, third with 205:11 and Leo Bartlett, fourth with 197:11.

Earl Meadows, Olympic champion, vaulted 14 feet, 2 inches for a new British record. Bill Graber and Bill Sefton, Southern California, tied with Andries Du Plessis, South Africa, for second at 13:6.

John Brooks, Chicago Negro, leaped 24 feet, 10 inches to take the broad jump.

PROFESSIONAL TEMPERAMENT

U. S. Sweeps Olympic Diving Competition

OLYMPIC SWIMMING

STADIUM, Berlin, Aug. 15.—(UP)—Blond Marshall Wayne of Miami today won the Olympic platform diving championship, giving the United States a clean sweep in all diving events, both men's and women's.

Wayne, the "matinee idol" of the swim stadium, beat out his own team mate, Elbert Root, also of Miami, who was second.

Wayne totaled 113.58 points to win over Root who had run up 110.60 points to lead the first division of the competing field. Herman Stork of Germany was third, and his teammate, Erhard Weiss, was fourth. Frank Kurtz of Los Angeles, who finished third in the 1932 Olympic diving at Los Angeles, was fifth, and Tsuneo Shibahara of Japan sixth.

Today's four optional dives completed competition begun yesterday when the contestants made their four compulsory, in which Wayne led Weiss fractionally and Root ran fourth.

Wayne, a picture diver, virtually clinched the title today on his first three dives when he ran his total of 97.30, and needed only 13.30 on his last effort to tie Root. His superb form in executing a cut through gainer one and a-half gave him 16.28 points and drew the loudest cheer of the day from the crowd of 15,000.

Other dives chosen by Wayne were the running two and a-half, backward one-and-a-half, and a layout handstand, for which he was awarded 16.22, 17.60 and 16.33 points respectively. The tall Miami's performance was dramatic. The winner could not be determined until his last dive was completed.

He not only was in the last half of the competition, but he was one of the last men listed on the program. The fact that he had to beat out a teammate and a friend added to the tension.

The crowd was the noisiest gathering of the swimming competition, and the most impatient and rude. The judges repeatedly were booed when their ideas of rating the dives varied with those of the crowd.

Japan virtually lost the championship in the 200-meters breaststroke where they took only first, third and fifth places, for 10 points. By placing 1-2-3 with its 19 points they might have had a chance by sweeping the 1500 meters. Johnny Higgins of Providence, picked up three points for the U. S. here, swimming fourth behind Tetsuo Hamuro, Japan; Erwin Seitas, Germany and Reizo Koike, Japan, respectively.

Japan trailed by 16 points as the 1500 meters free style began, and would have had to take first, second and third places while the two U. S. swimmers finished sixth and seventh to win the title. Had the Americans placed fifth and sixth and had Japan won the first three places, there would have been a 79-79 tie for first place.

Terada swam a magnificent race for Japan, finishing 30 meters ahead of Medina. The little Nipponese took the lead at the end of the third length of the pool and never was headed. He kept churning furiously and continued to pick up a lap to the end. It was evident at 130 meters mark that Medina didn't have a chance unless Terada collapsed, which was a possibility in view of the furious pace he set. Terada covered the distance in 19 minutes, 13.7 seconds which was more than 20 seconds faster than the barrel-chested lad from Seattle.

The most thrilling moment in the race came when shumpet Uto of Japan began to try to overtake Medina for second place. He was swimming at a sprinter's pace but the American had just enough lead plus speed to stand off the Japanese challenge.

Just what other statisticians will figure out to offset Germany's "kayak" system is not known. The United States, which put 20 gold medals must think of something. It might not be a bad idea for our side to claim first places for kicking more members off the team, for the most ragged marching on opening day, for winning a majority of events that really matter, and for having in Gus Kirby the most prominent brass bat on the field during the track events. Yes, our side should get at least 50 points for Kirby.

If the United States would follow Germany's lead and start claiming everything in sight, then all other nations would fall in line and everybody could go home claiming victory and very happy. Hungary, for example, could place a premium of 1000 points on fencing with sabers, which it won. And China could vote itself the same for the five hurdles its "hurdles" knocked down in one race. Bermuda, Iceland, and other countries which didn't score a point could grant themselves victory on the grounds that two last places were as good as one first.

On second thought, this plan wouldn't work out, for it would give Germany an idea and it would wind up with an even million points. Right off the bat, Deutschland would claim at least a thousand points for the most awkward baton handling in the relays, and another basketful for being the only nation on earth which could fill an arena for weight-lifting.

But let's not get bitter about who won the games. Let's be impartial and fair. Let's just say the United States won and let it go at that.

LENGLET DECISIONS SMITH AT STADIUM

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 15.—(UP)—Andre Lenglet, French heavy-weight champion, won an important fight on his American tour last night by trouncing Ford Smith, Montana sheep raiser, in the 10-round main event in Legion stadium. Lenglet had an edge in seven rounds.

Lenglet weighed 214, three pounds more than Smith.

JACK MEDICA'S SECOND PLACE CINCHES TITLE

OLYMPIC SWIMMING STADIUM, Berlin, Aug. 15.—(UP)—The United States today regained the men's Olympic swimming title lost to Japan four years ago while Uncle Sam's mermaids fought off a departure bid by Holland and successfully defended their championship.

The fight for the men's title was in doubt until the last event on the program, the 1500 meters free style, which was won by Noboru Terada of Japan. Jack Medina of Seattle finished second, and those five points clinched the title for American. Ralph Flanagan of Miami, only other U. S. contestant to qualify for the finals, swam fifth.

It was the same in the battle for the women's championship. The U. S. girls held a lead of 5 1-2 points when their final race—the 400 meters free style—was called. Rie Mastenbroek of Holland cracked the Olympic record in winning, but the Netherlands' bid for the team title failed when Mrs. Lenore Knight Wingard of Homestead, Pa., placed third, and Mary Lou Petty of Seattle took fourth.

Final team standings:

Men's: United States 83, Japan 77, Germany 20, Hungary 14, France 4, Great Britain 2. Women's: United States 55, Holland 52 1-2, Germany 25 1-2, Japan 15, Denmark 11, Argentina 5, Great Britain 3, Hungary 2 1-2, Canada 2 1-2, Brazil 2.

YORBA LINDANS LEASE LAND TO OIL COMPANIES

YORBA LINDA, Aug. 15.—Considerable interest is being shown by oil companies in leasing lands and drilling wells in the Yorba Linda and the Yorba districts.

The movement toward expansion was given an additional impetus when the well on the property of A. Barnett, being drilled by the De Augustine Abrams-Daly company, came in a few days ago with a reported flow of 900 barrels, and now has settled down to about 400 barrels.

Oil companies have competed in bidding for leases on properties north and west of the townsite of Yorba Linda and are extending the leases eastward, according to reports. They are paying from $10 to $20 an acre for the leases.

Two wells are expected to be drilled near this Barnett place, one on the C. Drake property by the Continental Oil company, and one on the Homer May property on Prospect avenue by the C. C. M. O. company, whose land is leased to Armstrong and Babcock company. Rumors indicate the De Augustine Abrams-Daly company will drill another well in the vicinity of Barnett well.

The West Coast Refining company is expected to erect a refinery immediately in the Yorba district, near the place where the Standard Oil company drilled a test hole more than a year ago and reported picking up oil sands. The company has leased the A. Dominguez, the Travis and the Prudential Yorba properties, according to reports.

REPORTS GIVEN AT AUXILIARY MEETING

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Aug. 15.—Interesting events taking place at the recent American Legion state convention in Hollywood were discussed at a meeting of the Joseph Rodman Legion auxiliary Thursday night. The meeting was held in Memorial hall.

Under the direction of the auxiliary's president, Mrs. Adah Kirkpatrick, various reports were heard. The auxiliary won first place in the state publicity contest. The junior division of the auxiliary obtained honorable mention for publicity work. Citations were awarded at the state convention to the Huntington Beach Legion auxiliary for membership and other outstanding work during the past year. It was brought out at the meeting that one of the resolutions passed at the convention had its origin with the local unit. The resolution referred to "every unit in the department of California prepare their respective communities for May 30 as a day of consecration by publicity in newspapers, by letters to leading organizations bringing to attention the fact that Memorial day is a day consecrated to the memory of our war dead and departed loved ones."

Association Planned By Beach Group

LAGUNA BEACH, Aug. 15.—As an auxiliary to the recreation commission recently named in Laguna Beach, plans are under way for the formation of a recreation association, the purpose of which will be to secure widespread public interest and co-operation in recreational work.

At a meeting held in the office of School Superintendent Linton T. Simmons, Mrs. Roy Peacock and James F. Garvin were authorized to investigate the feasibility of such an association, along the lines of the National Recreational association. Tentative plans call for memberships at a nominal rate, thus securing funds to carry on the work of the recreation bodies. More important, in the opinion of the commission, would be the public interest aroused in the pressing question of adequate recreation outlets for people of all ages. Harriet Stowell, co-ordinator for the WPA, reported that at present, 11 full-time recreational supervisors are assigned to Laguna Beach. F. B. Morris is chairman and Joseph H. Frenette secretary of the commission, which will meet monthly hereafter.

At noon, a typical beach picnic lunch, prepared under Higgins' direction, was served those attending the affair. The menu included all those things that delight the youthful appetite, hamburgers, hot dogs, all day suckers, ice cream and other tasty items. Prizes and numerous contests were held and prizes awarded ran all the way from half-dollars to pocket knives.

THE pectoral muscles of a pigeon are developed more than those of many other birds which fly with slower wing-beats. A pigeon can rise almost vertically and fly with a speed of 60 miles an hour. The weight of a pigeon's wing, cut off close to the body, was only four-fifths of an ounce.

Rich and Reckless

BEGIN HERE TODAY

MOLLY MILFORD, rich and popular, has received proposals of marriage from three suitors, but BRENT STUART, whom she loves, has not asked her to marry him.

Bored with a succession of parties, all alike, Molly said, "I don't care to take the 'Red Poppy' a questionable night job." He refused. Molly answered, goes with another admirer, WICK ROSS.

Later Brent arrives alone. "The Red Poppy" seems dull and uninteresting. Molly does not know that at a nearby table a group of men, including handsome NELSON FERGUSON, are watching Mrs. J. M. Chilson and Mrs. Clara Holliday. The others at the table explain to Ferguson that they have an "important deal" on and want his help.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER III

"THE Golden Girl, No. 1," the fat man repeated. The smile and the vicious tone didn't go together. "That's what she is, too. Golden with money. Her father is old Jay Milford, who has more millions than he knows what to do with. We kind of figure he would give half a million to get his girl back."

"Too dangerous. He'd have the whole federal outfit after us."

"Not dangerous the way we plan it. We want you to erect a little smoke screen, crack open one of the smaller banks, and while the attention of the local boys is divided, the girl disappears."

"Then, while the boys are still fretting themselves sick about that bank business we get in a little demand note to the family, with nobody the wiser. That is, until gettin' wise is too late. You'll be back in Chicago with a good alibi, and we'll be running this place, same as we have been doing. Nobody could pin anything on us, because you did the job."

"And no risk taken!"

"I wouldn't say that. The Walrus here will help you contact the family. We'll stage a fake raid at Frenchy's place across the river—some of our boys dressed up in police uniforms—so you can pull your stuff without the girl getting wise. We'll have the hide-out spotted."

"Frenchy's place. How do you know she'll go there with me?"

"She's here tonight. And that fellow with her isn't as good-looking as you, Nelson. No half as smart, I'll bet. I have an idea you could get that girl to go most anywhere!"

"Switch out the lights," Nelson said suddenly in a calm, professional tone.

THE orchestra had struck up again, and Molly and Wick were dancing.

The lights blurred suddenly and went out.

Molly was thinking, "Dancing in the dark. Dancing dangerously with all kinds of people dancing around you in a queer sort of intimacy."

A tall shadow—Brent, of course—had come close and was tapping Wick on the shoulder.

Molly was whirled away in the darkness. Brent was really a grand dancer, but tonight he was holding her too close.

The lights flared on and Molly gasped. She was looking into the deep blue eyes of a stranger—the good-looking young man who had stopped to speak to that group of men near her table a few minutes ago.

He said anxiously, eagerly: "Please be a good sport."

Molly said coolly, "It was outrageous."

Molly said coolly, "It was outrageous."

"I know it was," the stranger admitted in a deep, earnest tone. "But I had to do it. When your escort sees us, he'll probably come over and give me a punch in the nose, unless you pretend you know me."

MOLLY'S eyes met the dark blue ones steadily. "I suppose you get paid for this kind of thing?"

"What kind of thing?"

"Cutting in on people you don't know, keeping up the reputation of this place for surprising happenings."

He laughed a little. "Does it have such a reputation? I've found it one of the most stupid, harmless places I know, Molly Milford."

"I'm really not interested in 'The Red Poppy's' reputation, but I would like to know how you knew my name."

"Do you think I could miss, with all the newspaper clippings and pictures I've cut out and saved?" He was smiling. A nice smile that revealed strong, white teeth.

He had the assurance of a gentleman, yet some sixth sense

"Silly name, isn't it?" Molly laughed a little uncertainly.

"No," the stranger replied.

"I don't agree," Molly told him. "It's ridiculous. You're right, though, about this place being stupid. I came here because I was told it was dangerous and exciting. I don't know what I expected. Perhaps that people would be throwing things at each other. Or the police would come in and round everybody else up but me!"

"What a nice, safe feeling." His voice mocked a little. "You could never imagine the police looking for you."

"No, could you?"

"Not yet. But we never know what our impulses might lead to." "I've decided it may be better not to know."

"Nothing ever happens at Frenchy's—this place I'm talking about."

"Where do you work?" Molly queried.

"In a bank."

So he was just a nice young man who worked in a bank and was dreadfully romantic about her.

"If," the young man was saying in a soft, urgent tone, "I had gone to Harvard or Yale or Princeton you'd have gone out with me. But I only attended the University of the World and was left out of the Social Register."

"That doesn't matter to me."

"You mean it?"

BEFORE Molly could answer, there was Brent. A most determined Brent, cutting in with a vehemence that swept her into his arms like a resistless tide.

His voice was like ice. "What do you mean, dancing with strange men, you crazy little idiot?"

"Please don't talk to me as though I were still in kindergarten," Molly said. "And what right have you to assume—?"

"Don't pretend with me. I saw your face when the lights went on. I suppose this is a regular feature of the place, giving some of the patrons a chance to meet upper class in a democratic sort of way."

"You sound like a snob," Molly replied. "And I hate snobs. I don't know why I ever imagine I am fond of you."

"Then you do imagine it sometimes, Molly?" He had pulled her closer in his arms.

"Not when you talk like this."

"Well, whether you like me or not, you're not going to see that fellow again."

"Who's to prevent me, if I choose?" Molly's voice held a dangerous note.

"If I thought he'd dare to follow up and ask for a date, I'd wipe up the floor with him."

"You've no right to order me around."

"I have a right." There was a strange new note in Brent's voice. Molly's heart fluttered at the sound.

"What right—?"

"The right of a friend who isn't going to let you make a fool of yourself." Brent said slowly, after a moment of hesitation.

"Oh!" So that was all. Molly said furiously, "I don't like being told what not to do."

It hadn't occurred to her before. But now she was certain that if Sam Smith—or whatever his name was—invited her to have dinner with him she probably would go.
